GOGOL AND COMPANY

came into being on the summer solstice of 2010 and nearly a decade of ideas noted on pads of paper, nights spent together imagining, and days working to learn what we do.

We believe in sharing. We are a place of cultural independence, a social stronghold, a place to stay. The bookshop, café and exhibition space are our three souls that move in parallel to narrate what we are.

BOOKS

The armchairs are our emblem: here, you can pass time reading, thinking, inventing, without having anyone rushing you.

We are an independent bookshop, the selecting and suggesting of books is carried out, title by title, by our booksellers, every corner hosts a different publisher and we speak directly with each one of them.

Between the downstairs and the upstairs we have many sections to discover: from literature to humanities, photography and all of the visual arts to design and comics, underground cultures to culinary, and even some space dedicated to the little ones and their first books.

We organise literary and musical events, and also specialised courses in writing, literature, and publishing courses and any cultural proposition that interests us and reflects us.

We have a space dedicated to co-working where you can work on your projects freely, taking advantage of the free wifi.

ART

We are a gallery and we open our exhibition space to the neighbourhood and the city, promoting projects in which the activity and artistic creation become instruments of observation of the present and new proposals of the vision of reality.

Art reflects our continuing research into sharing and the desire to integrate different languages, capable of moving and communicating with the entire community and not only with insiders.

We like the idea of being able to organise exhibitions in a climate of complete collaboration and synergy with the artists. By our choice and passions, we favour curating photography and illustrative exhibitions, but we think that every form of art deserves to be valorised, as long as there is a clear message behind it.

CAFÈ

Our menu is made up of simple things and based on fresh and genuine foods that vary from season to season.

From breakfast to lunch to aperitif, we prepare, on the spot, our plates with instinct, passion and fantasy; from buttery croissants to servings of goats' cheese, from freshly made fruit juices to home made desserts, from topped bagels to hummus with vegetables.

In the sunny season, we animate piazza Berlinguer with evenings accompanied by jazz music in which the producers of the artisanal beer and wine from our menu take part, ready to tell you about their products and their history.

We also specialize in offering tasting courses in the world of sake and incursions into mixology.
